

Vancouver, BC
June 8, 2015

One house, three musicians, six dancers

A Port in the Storm

Choreography by Desirée Dunbar

Music by The End Tree

ONE PERFORMANCE ONLY/ TICKETS LIMITED

Thursday, July 2 at 8pm,

Aberthau Mansion , 4397 W 2nd Ave, Vancouver

Tickets $20 available from the artists or reservations: dezzadance.com

Box office opens 7:30pm Length: 60 min plus post-show chat

ABOUT THE PERFORMANCE

About Dezza Dance

Dezza Dance is a non-profit organization committed to dance education for all ages and abilities, community engagement, mentorship, workshops and the creation and presentation of new dance creations by Artistic Director/ founder Desirée Dunbar.

About The End Tree, with Aiden Brant Briscall, Elliot Vaughan, and Martin Reisle

The End Tree is a Vancouver-based string and vocal trio. With their unique brand of hallucinatory, melodramatic chamber-pop, The End Tree sounds like a cross between the Kronos Quartet, Nick Drake, and the Dirty Projectors. They recorded and self-released the EP Everything is Strange in 2012, and plan to release a full-length record in early 2015. With Jay Malinowski and the Deadcoast they released the Indian Summer EP (2013) and the full-length Martel (2014). In 2012, they joined the six-week Revival Tour of Europe with Chuck Ragan, Cory Brannan, Emily Barker, Rocky Votalato, and Jay Malinowski. In Canada, they have performed in Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver, and The Future.

About Catalyst

Our mission is to provide high-quality and optimal performance training for dedicated dancers. Dancers work in The Dancing the Wild method- drawing on cutting edge strategies in athletic conditioning whole-foods nutrition, belief structures, communication, mindfulness, energy work and creative process.

Catalyst Dancers: Sophie Brassard, Lily Cryan, Jenna-Lee Hay, Rachel Helten, Lesley Kosinkski, Melissa Panetta

Lighting design/ construction: James Kokol

Videography/ photography: Brenda Kent

Promotional material design: Juan Villegas

In partnership with Community Centres Moberly Arts & Cultural Centre, West Point Grey

Contact:

Desirée Dunbar dezzadance@gmail.com dezzadance.com

